Our office received the following message yesterday from an important Japanese anti-nuclear organization about their recent delegation to Rongelap in the Marshall Islands. Hopefully, you will look at the excellent news clip in the link. (It's in English.)

We're also glad to share some images and thoughts from Dennis Apel, of Santa Maria, California, who organizes at nearby Vandenberg Air Force Base, the origin of missiles test-launched to Kwajalein Atoll in the Marshall Islands. Dennis was just in Kwajalein.

Congratulations to the Left of Center Art Gallery & Studio for bringing together the different artists and collaborators for the exhibits and the public forums. Nevada Desert Experience is very happy and grateful to have been a part of it.

Sincerely,

Jim Haber, Coordinator

Dear Friends,

Japan Council against A and H Bombs (Gensuikyo) sent a delegation to the Marshall Islands from Jan. 13-22, 2013 in order to support Rongelap Islanders who have been suffering from US H-bomb Bravo test in 1954.

Delegation's activity in the Marshall Islands was broadcasted by NHK World and now is available in the URL below. Please see this video.

Rongelap people are at the crossroads, being forced by the United States to go back to their home islands where radioactive contamination still remain. By doing so, the US government is trying to finish its responsibility for the damage of nuclear testing in the Marshall Islands.

We want to call on you to give your support to Rongelap people and put more pressure on the US to fulfill its responsibility so that their wish for justice and compensation can be met.

Please note that the URL will be expired in about a week.

Sincerely,

Yayoi Tsuchida
Assistant General Secretary
